

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The BOARD OF EDUCATION in presenting its eighth annual report to the people of Bridgeport desires to call attention to the report of its Committee on Finance, which gives in detail the expenses for the year ending July 14th, 1884.

The Board has for some time felt the importance of affording adequate means of egress from the Washington School. Last summer this was effected by the erection of an addition in the rear of the building containing another staircase. This, and the finishing and furnishing another room in the same building, the furnishing of the new school on Newtown turnpike, together with improvements and changes at other buildings, has involved an extra expenditure during the year.

With the exception of the High School and the new buildings now nearly completed, our school houses are of such a character that it necessarily requires a large expenditure to keep them in proper repair.

The constant increase of our population, a fact in which we one and all take great pride, also causes a corresponding increase in our salary account, by the employment of a larger number of teachers.

Last August, at a town meeting called for the purpose, appropriations were made for the purchase of plots of ground and the erection of school buildings, in accordance with the recommendations of the Board of Education. The unanimity with which the appropriations were made was a great source of gratification to the Board, as an indication of the interest of our citizens in providing adequate school accommodations for their children. It is believed that the new buildings will be quite as well adapted for school purposes as the High School building, which has certainly proven to be a model school house.

With the increase of population in the western part of the city the erection of another school house on the Clinton avenue lot cannot be long delayed.

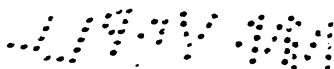

The following table shows the cost of the schools of the town of Bridgeport, per pupil enumerated, for the ten years previous to consolidation, as given by the State reports, and the corresponding cost since consolidation in 1876 :

PREVIOUS TO CONSOLIDATION.			SINCE CONSOLIDATION.
Year.		Cost per Pupil.	Year.		Cost per Pupil.
1866-7,	- -	$ 9.68	1876-7,	- -	$10.18
1867-8,	- -	10.68	1877-8,	- -	8.33
1868-9,	- -	10.18	1878-9,	- -	8.26
1869-70,	- -	8.48	1879-80,	- -	9.16
1870-1,	- -	9.98	1880-1,	- -	7.88
1871-2,	- -	10.15	1881-2,	- -	7.44
1872-3,	- -	8.71	1882-3,	- -	8.51
1873-4,	- -	12.39	1883-4,	- -	8.44
1874-5,	- -	11.05
1875-6,	- -	12.47

The Board desires to impress upon the minds of parents and guardians the importance of punctuality and regularity of attendance of their children upon the schools, in order to secure that degree of efficiency which we all, parents and officials, so much desire. The pupil who is frequently absent soon loses his interest and acquires an actual dislike for school, and either leaves the school altogether or joins the ranks of truants. In this connection the Board are seriously considering the advisability of establishing an ungraded school for the reception of those pupils whose irregularity of attendance does not entitle them to continue as members of the regular graded schools.

The Board would call the special attention of our citizens to the complete and extended report of the Superintendent which presents for their consideration many matters of interest and importance. Our Superintendent is indefatigable in his efforts to advance the best interest of our schools.

Of our corps of teachers we can say that they are one and all doing good work, and are entitled to and do receive the thanks of our people.

During the past year death has visited us and taken one who was for several years an honored and worthy member of this Board.

The following minute upon the pages of our record tells its sad story :

DEATH OF REVEREND THOMAS J. SYNNOTT,

APRIL 30TH, 1884.

---

"IN MEMORIAM."

---

At a meeting of the Board of Education called for the purpose of taking proper action in regard to the death of our esteemed associate, the REVEREND THOMAS J. SYNNOTT, the following memorial was adopted and ordered entered upon the records of the Board :

The Board of Education recognize in the death of REVEREND THOMAS J. SYNNOTT, a severe loss to the cause of education and one which it will be difficult to repair,—a man of education, tact and ability, and although a clergyman, still a man without prejudice or bigotry, his was a happy and tolerant disposition.

Pastor of one church in our midst for more than thirty years, he has so borne himself through this long period of time as to endear him not only to his own immediate congregation, but also so as to gain the respect and veneration of our entire community.

His memory will ever be fresh in our minds, and as time rolls by and each of us in turn receives the final summons from on high, it is our hope that we also may be as deserving of fond remembrance as the good Father Synnott.

As a further mark of respect and esteem the members of the Board will attend the funeral."

In conclusion the Board express the confident expectation that the people will ever uphold them in their unselfish labors to elevate the standard of education in our growing city.

Respectfully submitted,

These statistics show an increase not only in the number of pupils enumerated but also in the registration, average membership, per centage of attendance, and the number of pupils perfect in attendance for one or more terms. While these facts give evidence of progress and interest in the schools, it is not pleasant to note the increase of tardiness and truancy. The increase in the number of cases of tardiness during the past two years has been 818, or nearly sixty per cent., while the increase in the number of pupils registered in the same time has not been quite ten per cent. While the loss of time by a half days absence is greater to the pupil than a few moments tardiness, still it is worth considering whether the training to habits of promptness and punctuality is not of greater value in influencing the future character of the child than some parents are apt to think. A study of the previous tables will show which schools have had the greatest number of cases. It will be seen that it is not always those schools whose pupils live the nearest that have the smallest number, nor does the greatest number occur in those rooms having the youngest children. The success with which the police have looked after those who have been irregular in attendance is shown by the following account taken from the record of the police department. During the year the teachers sent for investigation one hundred and ninety-seven notices of truancy. Eighty-seven of these notices were indorsed, "Returned to school;" sixty-three, "Detained at home by their parents;" fifteen, "Absent on account of sickness;" ten, "Arrested;" five, "Could not be found;" four, each, "At work" and "Had left school;" three, "Playing truant;" one, each, "Excused by teacher" "Sent to the Reform School," and "Parents refuse to have him arrested." On nine of the notices no entry was made by the officer. In two many instances when the officer calls, the parents endeavor to shield the child by giving slight or unsatisfactory reasons for his absence, apparently forgetting that a mistaken leniency now will give cause for anxiety in the future. If an officer was detailed for this special service who should devote his whole time to the work better results would be secured than at present when the quarterly change gives each officer only three months of day duty out of fifteen, so that he has barely time to become acquainted with the truants in his section before he is transferred and another man has an opportunity to repeat the experience.

EVENING DRAWING SCHOOL.

The arrangements for the accommodation of this school in the High School building last winter were the best in the history of the school. The plan of having the entering class attend a school for their instruction in Mathematical studies before entering upon the formal work of Mechanical drawing was continued as in the previous winter. The number of students attending last winter was less than the previous winter. This gave the teacher more time to devote to the individual needs of the members of his classes. The attendance was not as regular as is desirable. In some cities a deposit of money is required of the student upon entering the school as a pledge of his attendance. This deposit is returned to him at the close of the winter if his attendance has been constant. If a similar plan were pursued here I think it would give better results. The experience of the past shows that the average attendance is only about two-thirds of the number registered.

The results attained by the school were quite satisfactory and showed great pains on the part of teacher and student, and exhibit the wisdom of the maintenance of the school as a part of the system of public education.

The school was continued for eighty-nine evenings, the time being divided about equally between the three classes. The number of students was sixty-seven, divided as follows: Beginners 28, the middle class 18, and the advanced class 21.

The occupations represented were as follows: Mechanics, 20; tool-makers, 8; carpenters, and pattern-makers, each 6; masons, 5; moulders, carriage makers, and book-keepers, each 4; painters, 3; plumbers, and wood-workers, each 2; sewing machine adjuster, gardner, and engraver, each 1.

The age of the oldest was 42. that of the youngest 16.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

The work in this school which is one of the most important in our system, has been carried on with the usual vigor and success. Over one-third of our corps of teachers who begin the next school year, have served an apprenticeship in this school. So great has been the demand for their services in the past that some have been called from it to take charge of rooms in the regular grades before they were fully prepared for the work of teaching. If the time of service in this school were lengthened so the young ladies could study more of the principles and theory of education they would be better prepared for the work of instruction than they are at present when their time is mostly occupied in the practice of teaching.

The previous classes graduating from the High School have been too small to admit of much selection in the candidates for admission to the Training School. The prospect now is that with larger classes it will be possible to make such a selection that only those who give fair promise of making good teachers may be admitted to the regular corps of teachers.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The number of pupils attending this school the past year was less than during the previous year, but the attendance was more constant and uniform. The employment of an additional teacher afforded better facilities for instruction than had been before enjoyed.

The graduation exercises of the largest class that have completed the course of study of the public schools, were held in the presence of a large audience at the Opera House, on the evening of June 27th, according to the following:

PARTING HYMN.

KATY E. WETSTINE.

Lightly on the dancing rill,
Over wave and billow,
Softly glides the moonbeam still,
Graceful as the willow.

Gayly decks the swelling sail
With its pearly glowing;
Kisses sea-nymphs pure and pale,
Ever onward flowing.

Swiftly as with sudden thought,
Darts its silv'ry brightness,
Far away where eye sees nought
Of its gleaming lightness.

Changing scenes its halo greets,
Passing joy and sorrow,
Gilding all with promise sweet,
For the coming morrow.

May we ever onward go,
Like the moonbeam bright,
Casting from us every woe,
In one sweet good-night.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

More attention has been given to the study of school architecture during the past few years than to any other class of public buildings. The proper lighting, seating, warming, and ventilating of these buildings have engaged the best thoughts of schoolmen, architects, and builders. The fact that the Bridgeport High School building has served as a model in these respects for other towns and cities, is a sufficient proof of its adaptation to the purpose for which it was designed if any other proof was needed than the constantly increasing satisfaction it gives to those who have occupied it since its completion.

With the completion of the buildings on Myrtle and North avenues, it is believed Bridgeport will have equally satisfactory buildings for primary or grammar schools. The engraving that answers for the frontispiece of the Report of the Board of Education, gives a good idea of the general appearance of the buildings.

They are warmed and ventilated by the same plan as the High School, save that the air is warmed by furnaces instead of by steam coils. The seats are arranged so the pupils receive the light from the left, or rear. Each of the two stories contains four school rooms, each twenty-four by thirty-four feet, with twelve feet ceilings. A hall extending from one end of the building to the other, affords two wardrobes for each school room. Ample means of entrance and egress are provided by staircases at each end of the building. The water-closets are located in the basement under the staircases, and are provided with separate ventilating shafts on the same plan that has proved so successful in the High School building.

The single room building erected in the north part of the town in which the same plans of seating, lighting, warming, and ventilating have been carried out has been occupied for the past two terms, proves to be well adapted to the purpose for which it was designed.

With the occupancy of these new buildings we shall be able to dispense with the use of rented rooms for the first time for more than eight years.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY AS AN AID TO THE SCHOOLS.

There is a growing desire on the part of the pupils in the High and Grammar schools to avail themselves of the advantages of the Public Library in the prosecution of their studies especially in Geography, History, and Literature.

At my request the Librarian prepared lists of books upon those topics that were adapted to the understanding of the pupils of the different grades. These lists were furnished the teachers with the request to call the attention of their pupils to these books and urge them to reach them. As a consequence many excellent books have been read by these pupils who might otherwise not have become acquainted with their treasures.

It is hoped that in this way something may be done to implant a stronger taste for good reading.

It has been a pleasure to apply to a librarian who is always eager to respond to every call for assistance.

TEACHERS.

As a body our teachers are interested in their work and are endeavoring to keep pace with the educational progress of the day. They have held regular meetings for mutual consultation and the discussion of questions connected with their work. Most of them realize that there is a science as well as an art of education, and that the true teacher is more than a mere hearer of recitations or a rigid disciplinarian.

I have found them eager to act upon any hints that might be given to aid them in advancing the best interests of those committed to their care.

During the past winter a series of lectures under the auspices of the Teacher's Association was held in High School hall, which was well supported by the public.

Fewer changes than usual have occurred during the year.

At the close of the fall term Miss M. Florence Smith (now Mrs. Stephen F. Hart), of the Barnum school resigned.

Near the close of the year Miss M. Alice Fuller (now Mrs. Frederick E. Bodwell, of the Union school, Miss Mary E. Preston (now Mrs. John Lancaster), of the Waltersville school, and Mrs. Fannie H. Larkin of the Old South school tendered their resignations. By the withdrawal of these ladies the schools will lose the services of faithful and conscientious teachers who have zealously striven to advance the best interests of their pupils.

IN MEMORIAM.

In consequence of sickness Miss Dora Croft was not able to return to her duties at the beginning of the school year as she had fondly hoped.

During the fall and winter she confidently believed she should some day return to school again. Her hopes were doomed to disappointment, however. On the 25th of last April, surrounded by parents and friends, she died of heart disease at her home on Park street. She served the Board for six years in the Waltersville, Island Brook, and East Bridgeport schools. She was an earnest, self-sacrificing teacher, who easily gained the affections of her pupils by whom her memory will long be held in grateful remembrance.

CONCLUSION.

In concluding this report it is pleasant to return thanks to the Board of Education for continued and hearty support; to the teachers, pupils, and citizens generally, with whom official duties have brought me in contact, for uniform courtesy and generous consideration.

Respectfully submitted,

H. M. HARRINGTON,

Superintendent of Schools.

BRIDGEPORT, August 18, 1884.

LIST OF PUPILS PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE.

Those pupils whose names are printed in the following list are worthy of honorable mention for their regularity and constancy in daily attendance.

The list is made up, first, of those who have been neither tardy, absent nor dismissed during the entire year; second, of those who, though not perfect in attendance for the year, were perfect in attendance for two terms. The names of those who were perfect in attendance for one term are not printed, on account of lack of space.

Number perfect in attendance the entire year,	-	-	496
“ “ “ “ two terms,	-	-	534
“ “ “ “ one term,	-	-	967

PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE THE ENTIRE YEAR.

A number after a name indicates the number of years the pupil has been perfect in attendance.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

In compliance with law the Board of Education submits this its Ninth Annual Report. No part of our town government should receive more attention than our school system.

The board would call the attention of tax payers to the report of the Committee on Finance, which gives in detail the expenditures for the year ending July 13, 1885. This report shows an increase over the previous year, caused by the furnishing and heating of the two new school houses on Myrtle avenue and North avenues. Another cause of the increased expenditure is found in the employment of a larger corps of teachers. The number of pupils having increased four hundred and ninety-five over the previous year, of course called for more school accommodations and a corresponding increase in the number of teachers.

We invite the attention of our tax payers to the following table, one showing the cost of the schools of Bridgeport per pupil enumerated for the years previous to consolidation, as given by the State reports, the other showing the corresponding cost since consolidation:

PREVIOUS TO CONSOLIDATION.		SINCE CONSOLIDATION.
Year.	Cost per Pupil.	Year.	Cost per Pupil.

In August, 1883, the town purchased a lot on Colorado

avenue for the purpose of erecting a school house thereon. It was intimated in the report of last year that the erection of such a school house on said lot could not be long delayed. The Board think that the time has arrived when this school building should be erected, on account of the great increase of population in the western part of our city.

During the past year the town through its Building Committee (who deserve great credit for their close attention to the work,) erected two new school houses, one on Myrtle avenue, the other on North avenue, corner of Oak street, accommodating about 450 pupils each. These new buildings have all the conveniences of the High School building, and are practically constructed after the same plans.

Heretofore our schools have been designated by names, some of which were inappropriate and meaningless. The Board, after due deliberation, adopted the numerical system for all except the High School, as follows:

Name.	Location.	Name.	Location.
No. 1.	Prospect street.	No. 10.	Newtown turnpike.
" 2.	Myrtle avenue.	" 11.	North Bridgeport.
" 3.*	Colorado avenue.	" 12.	Pembroke Park.
" 4.	Black Rock.	" 13.	Jane street.
" 5.	Iranistan avenue.	" 14.	Noble street.
" 6.	Pequonnock street.	" 15.	Maple street.
" 7.	High street.	" 16.	Sterling street.
" 8.	Grand street.	" 17.	Hamilton street.
" 9.	North Av. and Oak St.	" 18.	Nichols street.

In January of the present year our townsman, Hon. Phineas T. Barnum, testified his interest in the cause of education by donating the sum of one thousand dollars, to be perpetually held in trust by the City of Bridgeport, for the purpose of furnishing medals to the two students in the senior class of the Bridgeport High School who should write and deliver the best English Orations under such regulations as might be made from time to time by the Board. This munificent gift from Mr. Barnum is fully appreciated by the Board, and we have no doubt will be held in high estimation by our citizens for all time to come.

As in previous years, the Board have to commend the indefatigable industry and interest taken in his work by our Superintendent. His best endeavors are expended in the interest of the schools. Our Board and people consider him the right man in the right place.

Our Teachers are doing good work and will compare favorably with those in any of the schools in the State.

During the past year, death has removed from the Board its Vice-President, one of its most esteemed members, and taken from our city one of its most worthy citizens. The following minute was spread on the pages of our record in his memory :

IN MEMORIAM.

When this Board of Education was organized in April, 1876, AUGUSTUS H. ABERNETHY, M. D., was elected a member and continued as such until his death on the evening of November 9, 1884.

We place this tribute to his memory on our Records.

Resolved, That in obedience to the will of Him who doeth all things for the best, we bow in humble submission, with the feeling that this community and especially the cause of education in our city has sustained a great loss; that as an honorable, upright, and highly esteemed citizen and member of this Board, we will ever cherish his memory.

Resolved, That we do hereby extend to his family and friends our most heartfelt sympathy in this their time of sorrow and affliction, humbly and reverently commending them to Him, who has the power to assuage all our griefs.

Resolved, That the Secretary be requested to forward a copy of these resolutions to his family; and that as a further mark of respect this Board will attend his funeral in a body.

In closing our report we desire to impress upon our citizens the duty of frequently visiting their schools, so that they may thereby become better acquainted with the practical workings of the same.

We trust they will in the future, as in the past, continue their generous support of the school system as one of the very foundation stones of a free government.

Respectfully submitted,

By order of the Board,

M. B. BEARDSLEY, Secretary.

ATTENDANCE AND TRUANCY.

These statistics show an increase in the number of pupils registered, as well as in the average membership, daily attendance and the number perfect in attendance for one or more times. There was a slight falling off in the per cent. of average membership to the number registered. The very general prevalence of the measles during the past winter, which in some instances caused the withdrawal of over one-half of the pupils in a room, will readily account for this decrease. It is not so pleasant to notice the number of cases of tardiness which has increased nearly one-third during the past year. While the teachers and pupils in many of the rooms have shown a commendable desire to have this list as small as possible, the record of other rooms show the need of greater zeal in cultivating habits of promptness. A reference to the tables will indicate the rooms where this improvement is needed. While a tardy mark does not indicate so great a loss of time as an absent mark, and on that account is less to be deplored, still the habit of punctuality learned at school will exert a powerful influence upon the pupil during his whole life.

During the first month of the school year the duty of looking up the truants was performed by the regular force with about the same result as in years past. The first of October the Chief of Police detailed an officer for this special service. The results of his work has fully justified the plan as will be seen by contrasting the thirty-one cases investigated by the whole force in September, with twelve hundred and twenty-five cases investigated by the special officer during the nine months following, in addition to looking up two hundred and seventy-eight cases reported by the enumerators as not having complied with the law requiring sixty days attendance during the year. Eleven incorrigible truants have been sent to the State Reform School, and one girl to the State Industrial School.

While so much of his work could be seen, a more important part of the restraining influence of his labors in checking incipient truancy cannot be tabulated. His efforts in bringing to the notice of our charitable citizens, many a worthy family, who were suffering the hardships, incident to the depression in business during the past winter, will long be gratefully remembered by the recipients. Officer Glenn has proved himself so evidently the man for the place that it is hoped he will be continued in the same service.

Parents need to be again reminded that the best progress of their children is too often hindered by a mistaken leniency in allowing them to absent themselves from school for trivial reasons.

Your attention has been called in the past to the desirability of establishing an ungraded school, to which pupils could be assigned whose irregularity of attendance is a hindrance to the rest of the school. I hope the time is not distant when such a school will be established.

THE COST OF OUR SCHOOLS COMPARED WITH OTHER PLACES.

By referring to the financial statistics, it will be seen that the average cost per pupil, for the past year, based upon the average attendance was $15.82.

The following statement, determined from the last annual report of the State Board of Education for the year ending August 31, 1884, on the same basis, will show how Bridgeport compares with the other larger towns of the state in this respect: Hartford, $34.19; Norwich, $23.45; New Britain, $23.35; New Haven, $22.81; Stamford, $21.41; Norwalk, $20.05, Meriden, $19.65; Waterbury, $19.52; New London, $19.33; Danbury, $19.17; Middletown, $19.03; Bridgeport, $15.43. In this computation the amounts expended for new buildings, evening schools and new furniture, have not been included as it is designed to show the ordinary cost of the the schools.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The number of pupils connected with the school during the year was the largest in its history. The reputation of the school for careful and painstaking work, which has characterized it in the past, has been fully maintained, while the high moral tone which has been a marked feature has been well sustained.

The generous gift of Hon. P. T. Barnum, by which the income of one thousand dollars should be annually given to the two members of the Senior Class of the High School, who shall write and publicly pronounce the two best English orations, was made available this year. In accordance with the rules of the Board of Education, the first contest took place in High School Hall on the afternoon of June 22. The first prize was awarded to Verna B. Spinning, the second to Helen B. Stillman.

The good influence of this gift which has already been felt, will be still more apparent in the future.

The graduating exercises of the class of 1885, were held in the Opera House on the evening of June 29, in accordance with the following:

PARTING HYMN.

Words by Miss Lillie A. Fairchild.

Music by Wheeler H. Hall.

As the sunbeams gleaming brightly
Gild each scene that meets our view,
Spreading joy and gladness 'round them
With their rays of golden hue,
And tho' clouds may shroud their brightness,
Shining ever still serene,
Thro' the mists that half obscure them,
Pure and steady they are seen ;

So our years of stern endeavor
Like the summer clouds have passed,
Leaving mem'ries which like sunbeams
Brightly o'er our lives are cast.
O'er the archway of the future,
Sparkling in the rising sun,
Is engraved our chosen watchword,
" Nothing great is lightly won."

Watch not idly thro' the morning
In the harvest-field of life,
While the lab'ers bear the burden
Of the toiling and the strife,
But look closely lest you trample
In your path, with idle feet,
Precious grains, which you may gather,
Richer than the golden wheat.

Thus through life may richest blessings
Cheer us ever on our way,
While we giving joy to others,
Keep our own hearts ever May.
When earth's journey is completed,
And the paths of life are trod,
May our spirits soaring upward,
Find their resting place in God.

SPECIAL STUDENTS.

ROBERT FRANCIS FITZGERALD,	MARGARET AGNES STAPLETON.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

The work during the year has been continued on the same plan as in years past. In this connection I desire to repeat what was written a year ago concerning this school. "If the time of service in this school were lengthened so the young ladies could study more of the principles and theory of education they would be better prepared for the work of instruction than they are at present when their time is mostly occupied in the practice of teaching."

EVENING DRAUGHTING SCHOOL.

This school occupied the same room in the High School building that was used the previous winter. The work accomplished by the classes was about the same as in previous winters. The attendance was larger than the previous year.

In this, as in other schools, those students who are regular and constant in their attendance make better progress than those who attend irregularly or when there is no other place where they care to spend an evening.

The number of lessons given was ninety-two, being about equally divided between the three classes. The number of students was seventy-seven, divided as follows: Beginners, thirty, the middle class, twenty-five, the advanced class twenty-two.

The occupations represented was as follows: Mechanics, 20; pattern makers, 12; carpenters, 6; tool makers, 5; wood turners, moulders, and cabinet makers, each 4; rule makers, plasterers, and carpet weavers, each 3; box makers, masons, superintendents of machine shops and clerks, each 2; engineer, engraver, news dealer, packer and student, each 1. The age of the oldest was forty-seven, that of the youngest fifteen.

THE TEACHERS.

Our teachers, as a body, are interested in their work, and are striving to keep themselves abreast of the best educational thought of the times. They have sustained their regular meetings for mutual consultation and discussion. Many of them have pursued courses of reading that tend to broaden their views and give them greater power in the work of instruction.

Most of them realize that the highest and best labor of the teacher is not accomplished by listening to the recital of a definite number of paragraphs from the text book without comment or explanation, or hearing their pupils read in a listless manner, a lesson from the reading book.

The teacher's mission is so to train their pupils that their best and highest powers may be brought forth and cultivated and thus form a noble character.

This should be the sole aim of education and any system of instruction is to be approved in proportion as it accomplishes this result.

The following changes in the corps have occurred during the year. At the close of the Fall Term Miss Susie A. Mills, (now Mrs. Nelson B. Allen), of Public School No. 18, resigned. During the Winter Term Miss Mary L. Waterbury, (now Mrs. William Henshaw), of Public School No. 2, and Miss Mary C. Rylands, (now Mrs. James J. Walker), of Public School No. 1, tendered their resignations. At the close of the year Miss Alice M. Fuller, (now Mrs. Henry F. Veit), of Public School No. 1, Miss Mary T. Clark, (now Mrs. Alvin C. Russell), of Public School No. 17, Miss Alice L. Blaney, of the High School, and Mr. George B. Hurd, of Public School No. 1, tendered their resignations. By their resignations the Board will be deprived of valuable teachers who have rendered long and efficient services in our schools.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The new School Buildings that have been occupied during the past year have given excellent satisfaction. They have commended themselves as models of convenience and adaptation to school purposes to our citizens as well as to visitors from abroad. So great has been the inquiry for the plans of these buildings that they are published in connection with this report. (See pages 4, 5 and 6). The furnace in the building corner North avenue and Oak street, showed remarkable heating power, together with a limited consumption of fuel during the past cold winter.

Our citizens are to be congratulated upon securing so good buildings at such a moderate cost.

While we felicitate ourselves on what has been accomplished in the past in the way of providing good school houses, we must not be unmindful of the wants of the future. With the opening of the schools next month every school room in town will be occupied. It is therefore, quite important that action should be taken ere long for the erection of a school building on the Colorado avenue lot, in order to provide for the rapid increase of population in that part of the city.

CONCLUSION.

The Board of Education, and the public generally, are to be congratulated that the schools have enjoyed a year of quiet and effective work. This warrants the hope that next year will be one of still greater advance and progress.

I acknowledge, with thanks, the hearty support of the members of the Board, the cheerful co-operation of the teachers, and the manifest interest of our citizens in the cause of popular education.

Respectfully submitted,

H. M. HARRINGTON,

Superintendent of Schools.

BRIDGEPORT, August 10, 1885.

LIST OF PUPILS PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE.

Those pupils whose names are printed in the following list are worthy of honorable mention for their regularity and constancy in daily attendance.

The list is made up, first, of those who have been neither tardy, absent, nor dismissed during the entire year; second, of those who, though not perfect in attendance for the year, were perfect in attendance for two terms. The names of those who were perfect in attendance for one term are not printed, on account of lack of space.

PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE THE ENTIRE YEAR.

A number after a name indicates the number of years the pupil has been perfect in attendance.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Herewith the Board of Education presents its tenth annual report:

During the past year nothing of an unusual character has occurred in the management of our schools, and the progress of the same will equal that of any preceding year.

The first matter to which the Board would call the attention of our citizens is the report of the Finance Committee, which sets out in detail the expenditures for the year ending July 12, 1886.

Each succeeding year shows an increased expenditure, and the causes are ever the same—an increase in the number of our school children, consequent upon the growth of the city—and this is something of which the citizens of Bridgeport are certainly proud. The gross amount called for each year grows larger, but the relative proportion as to cost per pupil does not materially increase. The whole number registered in day schools for the past year was 6,819, an increase of 349 over the previous year.

Evening schools, for both sexes, were maintained during the year, and although far from satisfactory, have been more successful than in the past. If, however, the same interest is evinced during the coming winter the Board will again reopen these schools.

To partially accommodate the rapid growth of the western part of the city, a room has been rented on State street, corner of Organ street. This school has had an average attendance of nearly ninety scholars, under the care of two teachers. The Board will undoubtedly soon be compelled to ask the Town for an appropriation to erect a building upon the Colorado avenue lot.

Twelve thousand dollars having been voted by the Town for the purpose of making necessary addition to School No.

18, on Nichols street, plans for the same have been prepared and the work will be completed during the year.

The Janitor's Cottage on the Barnum street grounds has been arranged for school purposes, and now accommodates about fifty children.

The course of study in the High School after great labor and attention on the part of the Superintendent and Committee on Schools, has been revised, particular attention having been given to the English course, for the benefit of those scholars not desiring to enter College.

Believing that more attention should be paid to penmanship and drawing in our Schools, the services of an accomplished teacher of these branches has been engaged. This gentleman will also take charge of our Evening Drawing School.

We cannot refrain from again impressing upon the minds of parents and guardians, the great importance of visiting schools, as by so doing they encourage teachers and pupils, and become themselves better acquainted with modern methods of instruction.

Our teachers are generally doing good work, some could do better, but the corps as a whole are giving satisfaction to the Board. A careful perusal is asked for the detailed report of the Superintendent, who as usual, devotes his whole attention to school matters and nothing more need be said, than that, his onerous duties are conscientiously performed.

Following, is appended a report of the value of our School property based upon actual cost. The estimate is a very conservative one, and we have no doubt that the property is to-day worth fully $400,000.

These statistics show an increase in the numbers enumerated, registered, and average membership, with a slight decrease in the percentage of attendance, numbers perfect in attendance for one or more terms and the number of cases of tardiness.

An examination of the tables will show a great difference in the percentage of attendance and number of cases of tardiness not only between different schools of the same grade, but also between different rooms in the same building. Some teachers are more successful than others in securing good attendance.

Truant officer Glenn has performed his delicate duties with promptness and efficiency, investigating over twelve hundred cases of absence during the school year, besides interviewing the parents of four hundred and thirty children whose names were reported by the enumerators last January as not having complied with the law concerning school attendance. During the year eleven boys were sent to the State Reform School, most of whom were incorrigible truants from school. Nine girls were sent to the State Industrial School.

With all the efforts of teachers and officers to secure a better attendance at school, the painful fact remains that too many parents apparently do not realize the loss to their children that is occasioned by absence from school, and they are too ready to allow them to be absent for slight causes.

The law concerning the employment of children which was revised last winter is as follows:

CHAPTER CXXIV.

An Act concerning the Employment of Children in Factories.

“SECTION 1. No child under thirteen years of age shall be employed in any mechanical, mercantile, or manufacturing establishment.

SEC. 2. Any person acting for himself, or as agent in any way whatever, of any mechanical, mercantile, or manufacturing establishment, who shall employ or authorize or permit to be employed in such establishment any child, in violation of the preceding section, shall be fined not more than sixty dollars, and every week of such illegal employment shall be a distinct offense, provided that no person shall be punished under this act for the employment of any child when at the time of such employment the employer shall demand and thereafter during such employment keep on file the certificate of any town clerk, or of the teacher of the school where such child last attended, stating that such child is more than thirteen years of age, or a like certificate of the parent or guardian of such child in such cases only where there is no record of the child's age in the office of the town clerk, and such child has not attended school in this State. Any parent or guardian who shall sign any certificate that his child or ward is more than thirteen years of age when in fact such child or ward is under thirteen years of age shall be fined not more than sixty dollars.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the state board of education and the school visitors, boards of education and town committees of towns to enforce this act; and for that purpose the state board of education may appoint agents, under its supervision and control, for terms of not more than one year, who shall be paid not to exceed five dollars per day for time actually employed and necessary expenses, and whose accounts shall be approved by said board and audited by the comptroller.

SEC. 4. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

SEC. 5. This act shall take effect September first, 1886."

EVENING SCHOOLS.

In addition to the Drawing School an Evening School for young men was held in the Sterling street house for nearly four months for four evenings each week. Soon after it was opened the attendance increased so much that it was thought best to open another in the High street building, for the accommodation of those living on the west side of the harbor. This school was continued but a few weeks, however, as the interest did not warrant its maintainance. The few who were desirous of its advantages returned to Sterling street. The young men who were constant in attendance made commendable improvement and were appreciative of their opportunities. The whole number attending during the winter was sixty-nine. Average attendance twenty-seven. The only school for young women was held at Prospect street, which was continued for about the same time as the one at Sterling street. The number of those desiring to attend was limited but those who attended during the winter manifested an interest and eagerness for an improvement that was gratifying to witness. The number attending was twenty-eight. Average attendance eleven.

The history of Evening Schools in Bridgeport is peculiar. When they were first organized, ten years ago, such was the interest in them that over three hundred were in attendance in four separate schools. The schools were maintained with varying success for four years, till the fall of 1880, when they were not opened because twenty persons would not signify a desire for such a school. Every year since that time the same opportunity has been offered, but till last fall the requisite twenty have not presented themselves. Now the sessions have been resumed it is hoped a larger number will enroll themselves so these schools may be continued with greater interest.

EVENING DRAWING SCHOOL.

The interest and attendance in this school was well maintained. The number attending was larger than the previous year, while the work accomplished compared favorably with that of previous classes. The number of lessons given was one hundred and four, divided among the different classes as follows: Beginners, 44; Middle, 30; Advanced, 30. The number of students was ninety-two, as follows: Beginners, 45; Middle class, 26; Advanced, 21. The occupations represented were as follows: Mechanics, 22; tool makers, 11; carpenters, 6; pattern makers, and door makers, each 5; masons, tin smiths, stair builders and iron workers, each 4; paper box makers, upholsterers and cabinet makers, each 3; printers, corset makers, draughtsmen, wagon-body makers, gun makers, carvers, spring makers, and shipping clerks, each 2; electrician and grinder, each 1. The age of the oldest was forty-two, the youngest sixteen.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

This school has fully maintained its past reputation for careful, painstaking work on the part of teachers and pupils.

The different public rhetorical exhibitions during the year, as well as the speaking for the Barnum Prizes near the close of the year, showed the interest and improvement in the use of our mother tongue that these prizes are intended to foster. The first prize was awarded to James W. Thompson, and the second to Bessie Stevens.

The course of study for this school has been carefully revised during the past year with the view of better adapting it to the needs of the pupils. This course which goes into effect at the beginning of the next term is published in connection with this report.

The graduation exercises of the Class of 1886, occurred at the Opera House on the evening of June 29th, in accordance with the following

As a fleet of vessels lay
In a calm and placid bay,
Waiting for an active part
In the wide world's busy mart,
Heeding not the storms outside
On old Ocean's changing tide
Nor that they must scattered be,
Launched upon the boundless sea,—

So our days were bright and fair,
Free from every cumbering care.
Clouds ne'er came to dim our skies ;
Winds that blew were soft as sighs ;
Friendships formed were true and tried,
As we labored side by side,
While we drank from Wisdom's fount,
That we might Fame's ladder mount.

Gold we treasured up each hour,
For in "Knowledge" there "is power."
Freighted with ambition fond,
Launch we forth from every bond,
Each our destiny to form
In the world, 'mid calm and storm,
Trusting to a Hand of love,
Guiding to the Port above.

GRAMMAR AND PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

In the grades below the High School the work has been carried on with the same vigor and fidelity that has characterized these schools in the past. In these rooms the principal aim is so to train and instruct the pupils, that should they be compelled to leave school before entering the next higher grade, they will have a good preparation for the duties in after life.

THE TEACHERS.

Our teachers as a body are worthy the high esteem in which they are held by the public for their faithful and devoted labors in behalf of their pupils. They realize to a high degree that upon them mainly depends the success or failure of our system of public schools. They have ever been ready to profit by hints and friendly criticisms.

But few changes have occurred during the year. At the close of the fall term Miss Katie S. Holzer (now Mrs. William S. Sanner), of School No. 17, tendered her resignation. At the close of the winter term Miss Mary J. Bourne (now Mrs. John H. Orton), of School No. 4, resigned. During the summer term Miss Mary R. Welch (now Mrs. Alfred D. Lewis), of School No. 1, and Miss Evelyn M. Storrs, of School No. 8, tendered their resignations. At the close of the year Mrs. Fannie E. Wood, Misses May E. Porter, Ella M. Flather, and Emma F. Seward, declined their re-appointments. By these withdrawals the Board will be deprived of the services of faithful teachers who have striven with commendable zeal for the advancement of their pupils.

IN MEMORIAM.

---

Miss Lillian M. Sturges, of School No. 17, after a brief sickness died on the 22d of last November, at the early age of twenty-four years. She was a graduate of the High School, in 1879, and was one of the first who entered the Training School. Her first appointment after leaving this school was at Black Rock, where she remained for one year, when she was transferred to the school on Hamilton street, where she continued till she was stricken down at her post by pneumonia. She was a very successful teacher, easily gaining the affections of her pupils. One of the most touching sights at her funeral was the number of sad children lingering at the side of the casket loth to bid farewell to their former teacher.

1876-1886.

At the end of ten years it will not be amiss to take a brief review of the changes and growth of our schools since consolidation. When the town substituted the present for the district plan there were eleven districts with about three thousand pupils under the care of seventy-eight teachers.

While some of the districts had erected comfortable buildings, others were using school-houses showing a lack of enterprise that appeared the greater by contrast. The necessity of providing better and adequate school accommodations early engaged the attention of the Board of Education. The various buildings have been repaired and newly furnished from time to time, as occasion required. The erection of the High School building and those on Myrtle avenue, Oak and North Main streets, have marked a new departure in school architecture by providing, at a moderate cost, school-houses with adequate means for warming and ventilation, that have since served as models for some of the best buildings in this country. Among the earliest fruits of consolidation was the grading of the schools on a uniform plan which included the establishment of a High School for the education of our teachers and the preparation of students for business or higher institutions. At first, on account of the diversity of previous attainment of the pupils, there was quite a difference in the schools of the same grade. This difference soon gave way, however, under the earnest labors of the teachers, to whom great praise is due for their fidelity, so that for several years the pupils have been transferred from one school to another, in different parts of the town, as occasion required, without any appreciable hindrance of progress. At present such a uniformity of interest and purpose appears among the teachers and pupils that it is gratifying to witness. It promises well for still greater progress in the future. As an indication of the way the High School performs its function may be mentioned the fact that nine classes numbering one hundred and thirty-one members have graduated. Seventy-nine of this number have been appointed as teachers in the public schools of this city. Five others have recently been teaching in other places. Twenty-one of the graduates have since graduated at College or Scientific School, or are still pursuing their studies at these higher institutions. Honorable mention might be made of others now engaged in business or in the various professions who received a part or the whole of their preparation in the High School.

The rapid growth of our city during the past ten years is indicated by the increase in the school population, which can be seen by the following comparisons: In 1876 the number of pupils enumerated was five thousand, eight hundred and sixty-four. Last January the enumerators returned eight thousand, eight hundred and eighty-eight. At the time of consolidation there were about three thousand pupils in attendance at school. At the close of last term there were five thousand, three hundred and eighteen.

An indication of the different sources from which our population is drawn may be seen from the annual returns made by the teachers showing the birth places of their pupils. One of these reports made at the close of last term shows that at that time the pupils in one room were born in the following countries: United States, Canada, England, Ireland, Scotland, Sweden, Germany, Austria, Bohemia, Bavaria, and Switzerland.

The public school is no unimportant factor in training and moulding these representatives of the diverse nationalities of the old world so that they shall be imbued with the spirit of our free institutions and thus become useful citizens of our glorious republic.

The increase of pupils has required a corresponding increase in the number of teachers, so that in place of seventy-eight at the time of consolidation, there has been one hundred and twenty-three appointed for the coming term.

TOWN DEPOSIT AND LOCAL FUNDS.

As the history of these funds may not be generally known the following account may be of interest.

The history of the Town Deposit Fund is taken from the Municipal Register of 1873. "In the good time the younger people read of and the older remember faintly, the public debt having been paid during the administration of President Jackson, and the scale of expenditure in the period immediately following, still bearing something like primitive proportions—the tariff not yet reduced to a strictly revenue standard—the sale of public lands productive—the United States treasury became so plethoric as to excite apprehension, and Congress, (not yet demoralized), in the year 1836, very wisely concluded to return the surplus funds of the National Treasury to the people, from whom they had been collected, in the shape of a provisional loan. These funds were paid over to the States in proportion to population and were disposed of by the State Legislatures in various ways. Pennsylvania, for example, appropriated her portion to the encouragement of the construction of railroads. Connecticut, true to her earlier instincts, deposited her portion with the various towns of the State, to be used by them as they pleased, but the interest in many, perhaps most instances, was devoted to the support of the public schools of the towns. The amount which fell to Bridgeport was $7,191.33.

The fund was at first loaned to individuals, but afterwards was collected and used by the town towards building the old Alms House, on what is now William street, E. D., and for other purposes, the Selectmen giving the notes of the town to the order of the Treasurer of said Fund, and the interest is now wholly paid towards the support of our public schools—lessening by so much our direct tax for that purpose. Though courted as a debt, it is not probable that the principal will soon be called for.”

These notes are now in the possession of the Agent of the Town Sinking Fund.

THE LOCAL FUND.

The Stratfield School Society, in 1834, bought at par, seven shares of the stock of the Connecticut Bank. In 1843 the same society received from Mr. Fitch Wheeler three shares of the same stock, thus increasing this fund to one thousand dollars. In 1865, by virtue of an agreement between the Selectmen of the two towns, the bank paid the sum of one hundred and twenty dollars to Fairfield, and eighty dollars to Bridgeport, which left the fund at eight hundred dollars. The First School Society of Stratford, in 1848, transferred to the East Bridgeport School Society four shares of the stock of the same bank as its share of a fund hitherto held in common. At the same time the East Bridgeport Society purchased two additional shares of the same stock, thus making the par value of its fund, six hundred dollars. In 1865 both societies transferred their funds to Bridgeport. The income of these fourteen shares of bank stock is regularly paid to the Treasurer of the Town to be expended for school purposes.

CONCLUSION.

In closing this report I should do injustice to my own feelings if I failed to acknowledge, with heartfelt thanks, the generous consideration and hearty support of the Board of Education, the hearty coöperation on the part of teachers and pupils, as well as the uniform courtesy of those with whom official duties have associated me during the past ten years.

Respectfully submitted,

H. M. HARRINGTON,

Superintendent of Schools.

LIST OF PUPILS PERFECT IN ATTEND- ANCE.

Those pupils whose names are printed in the following list are worthy of honorable mention for their regularity and constancy in daily attendance.

The list is made up, first, of those who have been neither tardy, absent, nor dismissed during the entire year; second, of those who, though not perfect in attendance for the year were perfect in attendance for two terms. The names of those who were perfect in attendance for one term are not printed, on account of lack of space.

Number perfect in attendance the entire year,	432
Number perfect in attendance two terms,	- 485
Number perfect in attendance one terms,	- 995

PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE THE ENTIRE YEAR.

A figure after a name indicates the number of years the pupil has been in perfect in attendance.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

---

To the Citizens of Bridgeport:

In rendering to you this its eleventh annual report, the Board have few changes to note.

During the last, as in previous years, there was a steady increase of children of school age, in that part of the city known as the West-End. To supply accommodations for these children a building was rented which accommodates two hundred scholars. Next term this building will be filled. Your attention has been called to this matter heretofore. We ought to erect a school-house on the lot owned by the town on Colorado avenue during the coming year.

Last year an addition of four rooms was made to School No. 18, on Nichols street, seating two hundred scholars, and the wants of that locality are now fairly well supplied.

A change was also made in the janitor's cottage, at School No. 15, on Maple street, giving room for fifty children, so that next term there will be one hundred scholars under tuition in this old cottage. We shall very soon be obliged to obtain increased school-room in this section. Of course, the great increase in the number of school children necessarily follows from the acknowledged rapid growth of our city, and is something we all can look upon with complacency and pride.

This same increase of scholars will necessitate the outlay of a larger sum of money each year. The details of such expenditure, for the past year, may be obtained by a perusal of the report of our Finance Committee.

Our teachers are as a rule doing excellent service, and we have to report our schools in good condition, and we think equal to the average.

We have in previous reports reminded parents of the desirability of their visiting the schools, as thereby both scholars and teachers are encouraged, and parents gain a more intimate knowledge of the workings of the schools. We regret to say that during the year very few calls were made by our citizens.

The resignation of Miss Sarah E. White, from the principalship of the Training School, was the most important change of the year, and deprived the Board of the services of a teacher who has served in the public schools of this city a length of time unprecedented in their history. She has done a noble work that is fully appreciated by the Board.

The Board believing that it will be for the best interest of our whole school system, has decided to make a radical change in the plans and methods of instruction pursued in the Training School, and has secured the services of Miss Mary L. P. Shattuck, who brings to our service a knowledge of the most approved methods of instruction, which has been gained during a long and valuable experience as a teacher in one of the Massachusetts State normal schools, as well as in a city training school.

Your attention is called to the report of the Superintendent, which sets forth in detail the workings of the schools.

We appreciate the kindly spirit of encouragement evinced by the people of Bridgeport in the cause of Public Education, and trust the same spirit will continue in the future.

Respectfully submitted,

By order of the Board,

M. B. BEARDSLEY,

Secretary.

These statistics show the growth of the Schools in the enumeration, registration, and attendance, as well as in the number of pupils perfect in attendance for one or more terms. There was also a slight decrease in the number of cases of tardiness. As in past years, there has been a great diversity of attainment in these as in other respects not only in different parts of the city, but in rooms of the same grade in the same building. Some teachers always secure a good attendance.

Truant officer Glenn has performed his arduous duties with his accustomed promptness and fidelity. He has investigated twelve hundred and thirty cases of absence during the year besides interviewing the parents of over two hundred children whose names were reported last January by the enumerators as not having complied with the law concerning school attendance.

During the year, ten boys were sent to the State Reform School, as incorrigible truants. One girl was sent to the State Industrial School.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The membership of this School was the largest in its history. The increase in its number of teachers made it possible to give a more careful attention to the needs of individual pupils, so that a larger number have been kept from falling behind their classes or leaving school.

The different public rhetorical exercises, during the year, have shown that the pupils performed this part of their work with great credit to themselves and their teachers. The essays submitted for the Barnum prizes showed unusual variety and vigor of thought. The first prize was awarded to Mary N. Turner, and the second to Alfred B. Palmer.

The graduation exercises, of the Class of 1887, took place at the Opera House on the evening of June 24th, in accordance with the following:

PARTING HYMN.

HOWARD LA FIELD.

I,

Far within a quiet valley,
Fanned by every murmuring breeze,
Flowed a little silvery streamlet,
Overhung by arching trees.
Near its side, another brooklet
Shone and sparkled, fair to see,
But they parted at their meeting
In the broad and open sea.

II.

Swiftly through the glancing shadows,
Bright and fair the streamlets glide;
So our lives throughout our school-days,
Like the streams, are side by side.
Now before us lies the future,
We have reached the parting place;
We must journey, looking forward,
Through the dim, uncertain space.

GRAMMAR AND PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

The teachers of the grades below the High School have labored faithfully and zealously to advance their pupils in their various studies so they should be well prepared for the next higher grades. The examinations that have occurred during the year, as well as the public receptions at the close, showed that the pupils had been well taught.

In some instances the teachers have had too many pupils under their charge to accomplish the best results.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

The only Evening Schools maintained last winter were for young men. The Drawing School was held in the upper room of the STANDARD building. This was taught by Mr. Lamson, the special teacher of writing and drawing in the Day Schools. As no pupils presented themselves for the advanced classes the only class formed was for beginners. This class, numbering seventy-three, was divided into two sections. Forty-eight lessons were given covering about the same work as in past years. The results accomplished compared favorably with those of previous classes.

The average attendance was fifty.

The occupations represented were as follows: mechanics, 21; tool makers, 9; carpenters, 8; paper box makers, upholsterers, and cabinet makers, each 3; masons, tinsmiths, stair builders, iron workers, printers, draughtsmen, carvers, wagon makers, corset makers, gun makers, spring makers, and ship-ping clerks, each 2; electricians and silver platers, each 1.

The age of the oldest was forty-seven, the youngest fourteen.

The other Evening School, for young men, was held in the upper room of the School House on Sterling street, and was continued for four evenings a week, for about four months, which was as long as the attendance would warrant the employment of a teacher. There was more of an attempt at classification of the pupils than has been made in previous years. The number who attended for one or more evenings was seventy-two. Adopting the same rule for membership that is used for the day schools, viz., an attendance for two weeks, at least, to constitute a person a member, we should exclude thirty-two of these, leaving only forty as the number registered for the winter. The average attendance was only eighteen. The few who were regular in attendance made good progress in their studies. No school for young women was not opened as the requisite twenty did not make application although due notice was given that a school would be maintained if that number applied for one.

The law of the State relating to Evening Schools is given below:

SECTION 1. Every town may establish and maintain, in addition to the schools now required by law, public evening schools for the instruction of persons over fourteen years of age, in spelling, reading, writing, geography, arithmetic, and such other studies as may be prescribed by the Board of School Visitors of such town.

SEC. 2. The Board of School Visitors of such towns shall have the same supervision over such public evening schools as is now granted to the school committee of a consolidated district, as set forth in section four, chapter six, title eleven (page 139), of the general statutes.

SEC. 3. The Board of School Visitors, Board of Education, or Town Committee, as the case may be, of any town wherein such public evening schools are established and maintained, shall, annually, upon the first Monday of June, certify to the comptroller the average number of scholars attending such schools within the current school year, said year beginning on the first day of September; and the comptroller shall thereupon draw his order upon the treasurer of the State in favor of such Board of School Visitors, Board of Education, or Town Committee, for the use of such schools in the sum of one dollar and a half for each scholar included in the number so certified, and the treasurer shall pay the same upon presentation.

SEC. 4. It shall be the duty of the Boards of School Visitors, Boards of Education, and Town Committees of towns claiming the benefits of this act to maintain such evening schools for a continuous term of not less than fifty sessions in each school year, as above defined, and to report annually during the month of September to the State Board of Education, concerning the condition and progress of the same.

PENMANSHIP AND DRAWING.

The wisdom of placing the direction of the work in Writing and Drawing under the supervision of a special instructor in these branches has been demonstrated in a greater uniformity of results as well as an increased interest in these important branches. The other teachers ought to remember, however, that if the best results are to be attained, the directions and suggestions of the special instructor must be carefully followed.

THE TEACHERS.

The teachers have performed their arduous duties with earnestness and fidelity. During the year more than half of them have formed a Teachers' Reading Union, under the auspices of the Chautauqua University. The Bridgeport Circle has held regular semi-monthly meetings for the discussion of the various topics presented. This manifest desire for study and improvement in methods of instruction on the part of our teachers is bearing good fruit in the schools.

During the year the following teachers have resigned: Cornelia F. Slason (now Mrs. George Elwood), and Carrie J. Calef, of School No. 2; Julia O'Connor (now Mrs. Robert E. Hurley), and Lucy A. Mooney (now Mrs. Finton J. Kelley), of School No. 6; Eliza A. Baldwin, of School No. 13; Sarah R. Matthews, of School No. 15; Anna A. Hinckley, of School No. 17, and Lucy L. Englehard, of School No. 18. Most of these have rendered long and faithful services in our schools that have been appreciated by their patrons and pupils.

The resignation of Miss Sarah E. White, of the Training School, merits more than an ordinary notice, on account of her long continuance in the Bridgeport Schools. She began her work in this city almost fifty years ago, when the teacher and the public school were not held in the same degree of confidence and estimation as at present, and continued in the active discharge of her duties till she tendered her resignation near the close of the year. Her last and most important work has been in connection with the Training School, of which she has had charge since its organization in 1879. More than one-half of the present corps of teachers received their first hints in teaching from her while members of this school. It is very rare that a teacher continues so long in the service of the same town with such a marked degree of success.

May she long enjoy her well merited rest!

IN MEMORIAM.

---

MISS KATIE E. MASTERSON, of School No. 7, died at her home on the twelfth of last February, of that scourge of our climate—consumption. She was educated in the schools of Bridgeport, and began teaching as an assistant at the early age of fifteen, and continued in the same school for eighteen years, having charge of the school the last half of the time till she was compelled by failing health to leave it at the close of last fall term.

She was a very enthusiastic, painstaking teacher, who easily gained the respect and affections of her pupils, by whom she will long be held in fond remembrance.

CONCLUSION.

The Board of Education and the public generally, are to be congratulated that the Schools have enjoyed a year of quiet and effective work. This warrants the hope that the coming year will be one of still greater progress.

I desire to return thanks to the Board of Education for continued and hearty support, and to acknowledge the many courtesies shown by all with whom official duties have brought me in contact.

Respectfully submitted,

H. M. HARRINGTON,

Supt. of Schools.

BRIDGEPORT, August 8, 1887.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

To the Citizens of Bridgeport :

The twelfth annual report of the Board of Education covered in these pages, it is hoped will meet with the approval of our citizens.

The necessity for increased school accommodations in the western part of the city, which has been referred to in several previous reports, is soon to be met by the erection of a large and commodious grammar school building on the Clinton avenue lot now owned by the Town; the very generous sum of sixty thousand dollars having been appropriated for this purpose at a recent town meeting. This building will be finished in about a year, and will be an ornament to that part of the city. It is to be heated and ventilated after the plan of our High School building, which is a model in this respect, and will accommodate seven hundred pupils.

Until it is finished the temporary building at the corner of State and Organ street will continue to be used.

The crowded condition of the pupils in the Barnum district, referred to in last year's report, has been temporarily provided for by an appropriation of five thousand dollars, to be used in enlarging School No. 13, on Jane street.

The pressing necessity for a large grammar school building on the Barnum lot, the finest school lot owned by the Town, is only delayed for a short time by this measure. A large building must soon be erected on that site. After that the needs of the city can be met for a considerable time by building inexpensive primary schools where they are required.

The boilers at School No. 1, on Prospect street, having been condemned by the Insurance Inspector, two new horizontal boilers are being put in their place which will be ample to heat the building in the severest weather.

Last year certain changes were inaugurated in the Training School looking toward its improvement. Miss Mary L. P. Shattuck was placed in charge and a thorough re-organization of the school effected. The results have been flattering to the Principal and very gratifying to the Board.

The salary given to pupil teachers in the Training School was last year reduced from one hundred and fifty dollars a year to one hundred. This year it has been decided to pay them no salaries as the advantages of the school are deemed sufficient compensation for the services of the young ladies.

The size of the graduating classes in the High School has now become so large that it is impossible to receive into the Training School all who apply. The admission of pupil teachers to the Training School will depend on their scholarship in the High School, and they will not be retained in the Training School if they do not show proper capacity for teaching. As the classes of pupil teachers have now become larger than the number required to fill the vacancies on the regular corps of teachers only those young ladies who show superior fitness for the work will be selected for permanent positions.

The increase in the number of school children during the past year is shown by the enumeration to have been five hundred and sixty-three, which is a very satisfactory growth.

The report of the Finance Committee sets forth in detail the expenditures of the past year, which are a little less than the year before.

The report of the Superintendent submitted herewith shows the working of the schools in detail.

The work of the corps of teachers during the year has been eminently satisfactory.

The encouragement and support of the Board by the people of Bridgeport has been generous and complete.

Respectfully submitted,

By order of the Board,

J. S. HANOVER, President.

PETER W. WREN, Sec'y, pro tem.

BRIDGEPORT, August 13, 1888.

These statistics show a slight decrease from the previous year in the amount expended for school purposes, average membership, daily attendance, per cent. of average membership to number registered, and number perfect in attendance for two terms. They show an increase in the numbers enumerated, registered, the per cent. of daily attendance, average membership, the number perfect in attendance for the year, and for one term as well as in the number of cases of tardiness. The falling off in average membership and daily attendance in the public schools was mainly due to the enlargement of the parochial school on Pequonnock street, last January.

An examination of the tables shows a marked difference in the per cent. of attendance and the number of cases of tardiness in schools of the same grade in various parts of the city as well as in different rooms of the same building. In these as in other respects some teachers are more successful than others in securing good results.

Truant officer Glenn has performed his delicate duties with the same fidelity that has characterized his labors in past years. He investigated eleven hundred and eighty-six cases of absences reported by the teachers as requiring his attention, in addition to interviewing the parents of one hundred and fifty-nine children whose names were reported by the enumerators as not complying with the laws of the State concerning school attendance. During the year nineteen boys have been sent to the State Reform School for truancy or incorrigible conduct.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

A school for young men was held in the upper room of the school house in Sterling street, and was continued for four evenings per week for fifty-one evenings, which was as long as the attendance would warrant. The number who attended for one or more evenings was sixty-three. Adopting the same rule for membership that is used for the day schools, viz.: an attendance of two weeks at least to constitute a member we should exclude twenty-nine of them leaving thirty-four as the number registered for the Winter. The average attendance was eighteen.

In response to a petition, a school for young men was opened in one of the rooms of the building corner State and Organ streets. This was continued for twenty-four evenings, when it was closed as the attendance was not sufficient to warrant its continuance. The number who attended one or more evenings was thirty-eight, of whom sixteen attended two or more weeks. The average attendance for the time the school was continued was eleven. An evening school for girls was maintained for fifty-two evenings in one of the rooms at the school house on Prospect street. The number attending one or more evenings was sixty-four of whom thirty-four attended two or more weeks. The average attendance was fifteen.

Those whose attendance was regular and constant made commendable progress in their studies.

The school in Mechanical Drawing was held in the upper room of the Standard building, and was taught by the special instructor of writing and drawing in the day schools. A class of beginners was the only one formed as none presented themselves for advanced instruction. Forty lessons, covering nearly the same ground as in previous years, were given. The class numbered twenty-five, representing the following occupations: mechanics, 7; machinists, 5; pattern makers, 3; carpenters, carriage makers, clerks, and masons, each 2; marble cutters, and wood workers, each 1. The average attendance was thirteen. The age of the oldest was forty-two, the youngest was fourteen.

In view of the small number attending this school, the expediency of its continuance is worthy of consideration.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The steady increase, year by year, in the number attending the High School is a very gratifying indication of the appreciation of its advantages by our citizens, and the desire to have their children complete the full course in the public schools.

The speaking for the Barnum prizes, near the close of the year, showed painstaking care in the preparation of the essays as well as spirit in the delivery.

PARTING HYMN.

---

BY MARY E. PECK.

---

Though to-night we gather,
Classmates here to part,
Let no thought of sorrow
Weigh upon the heart.

May a joyful mem'ry
Of our pleasant days,
All our future pathway,
Light with hopeful rays.

As we journey onward,
Up life's rugged steep,
May the Father o'er us
Tender, close watch, keep.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

During the year the work of this school has been modified so as to give the young ladies in training a regular course of instruction in the principles underlying the best methods of teaching and at the same time afford abundant opportunity for practice in testing these methods in the school room. As a consequence there has been a general desire among the young ladies to remain in the school till the close of the year before being assigned to places in the regular corps of teachers.

The marked success of the new plans amply warrants the belief that still better results will be secured during the coming year. At the close of the year certificates of graduation were given to nine young ladies.

THE TEACHERS.

Less than the usual number of changes have occurred in the corps of teachers, as only two have withdrawn. Near the beginning of the Fall term Mary W. Bradley, (now Mrs. Harlow L. Phillips), of No. 11, tendered her resignation. She had rendered more than five years of faithful service in the schools. At the close of the same term Mrs. Lizzie N. Trask, of No. 17, withdrew by reason of removing to New Haven. By her resignation the Board was deprived of the services of one of our best teachers.

Our teachers as a body have endeavored to carry out the policy of the Board, and have labored for the best interests of their pupils with a fidelity that is worthy of high commendation. A marked indication of their desire for improvement may be seen in the fact that nearly one-half of the corps have voluntarily met the principal of the Training School, out of school hours, twice a week, during the year, for the purpose of gaining hints to help them in their work.

The good results of these meetings, which have already been seen, will be still more manifest in the future.

With such a spirit animating the teachers we may confidently expect our schools to make decided improvement in the future.

CONCLUSION.

In concluding this report I desire to return my sincere thanks to the Board of Education for uniform consideration and hearty support, and wish to acknowledge the many courtesies shown by all with whom official duties have associated me.

Respectfully submitted,

H. M. HARRINGTON,

BRIDGEPORT, August 13, 1888.

LIST OF PUPILS PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE.

Those pupils whose names are printed in the following list are worthy of honorable mention for their regularity and constancy in daily attendance.

The list is made up, first, of those who have been neither tardy, absent, nor dismissed during the entire year; second, of those who, though not perfect in attendance for the year were perfect in attendance for two terms. The names of those who were perfect in attendance for one term are not printed, on account of lack of space.

Number perfect in attendance the entire year,	538
Number perfect in attendance two terms, .	585
Number perfect in attendance on term, .	1,219

PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE THE ENTIRE YEAR.

A figure after a name indicates the number of years the pupil has been perfect in attendance.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

---

To the Citizens of Bridgeport:

In the following Thirteenth Annual Report of the Board of Education certain changes in the management of the Schools are recorded, which are believed by the Board to be in the line of progress and will receive the commendation of our citizens.

The rapid increase of our population has taxed our school buildings to the utmost. The needs of the western part of the city have been adequately provided for by the new building almost completed on Clinton avenue. The necessity for a new building in the Barnum District, which has been dwelt on in these reports for several years past, has become imperative. A building that will accommodate eight hundred pupils is needed there at once; the Board most urgently requests that our citizens will realize this necessity and provide for it.

The Jane street building that was enlarged last year is already crowded. We need the room that would be provided by the addition of another story to the annex erected last year.

The consolidation of the Town and City Governments during the past year has not affected the school system, as all the schools of the city and town have been under the control of the Board since its organization.

The annexation of the Borough of West Stratford to the city, last spring, brought additional care upon the Board. The schools were continued during the summer term on the same plan as had obtained under the district system.

At the beginning of the new school year changes were made to improve the schools and bring them more nearly into harmony with those in the other parts of the city. The burning of the school-house in the northern part of the annexed portion, has compelled the transfer of pupils to other quarters till a suitable building can be erected on the site of the one that was burned.

Great progress has been made in our Training School by training our pupil teachers in new and improved methods of instruction. The graduates of this school will in time give the Board a corps of trained teachers.

The good results of this school will be more and more apparent in our schools each year.

The Training School has outgrown its quarters in the Prospect street building, and will be moved into the Clinton avenue building as soon as it is completed.

The question of the prevention of exposure to contagious diseases in the schools is perhaps the most important one we have to deal with. It is the opinion of this Board that when a case of infectious disease occurs, it is best for all school-children living in the same house, whether a single or a double house, and all living in the next adjoining house on each side when in a block of houses, to remain away from school until two weeks after the termination of the case; the termination to be certified to by the attending physician or the Health Officer; this certificate will be a ticket of re-admission to the schools, for all the children quarantined on account of that particular case, two weeks after its date. We earnestly hope that our citizens and the Board of Health will coöperate with us in carrying out this regulation.

It is a matter of regret to the Board that the Police Commission has found it necessary to dispense with the services of a special truant officer. The experiment has been tried more than once in this city. It has always proved unsatisfactory.

The attention of our citizens is invited to the Reports of the Finance Committee and the Superintendent, which contain matters of interest to all.

The Board recognizes the interest of our citizens in the schools, and urges the parents and friends of the school children, and all interested in education, to visit and inspect the workings of their schools, and give them their hearty support.

Respectfully submitted,

By order of the Board,

J. S. HANOVER, President.

CHARLES F. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

These statistics show an increase in the amount expended for the support of the schools, as well as the number of pupils registered, the average membership, daily attendance, the percentage of daily attendance, the number perfect in attendance for two terms as well as the number of cases of tardiness. There was a decrease in the per cent. of average membership to the number registered, the number perfect in attendance for the year and for one term.

In compiling these statistics, the schools in that part of the city recently annexed have been included excepting those relating to the financial statements.

The tables show the usual differences in the items of attendance and tardiness. An inspection will show what schools have made the best records in these respects. Officer Glenn, who acted as truant officer a part of the year, performed this trying duty with his accustomed fidelity.

During the six months from October to April no officer was detailed for this service.

The difference was quite marked at that time as will be seen, when we contrast the twenty-five cases investigated by the whole force in March, with the work accomplished by Mr. Glenn in the following month, when he investigated one hundred and thirty-one cases reported by the teachers, in addition to interviewing the parents of two hundred and eighty-two children, who were reported by the enumerators as not having complied with the laws of the State concerning school attendance. During the year six boys were sentenced to the State Reform School and four girls were sent to the State Industrial school, for truancy or incorrigible conduct.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

A school for young men was maintained for thirty-six evenings in the school-house on High street. At the beginning the attendance numbering nearly seventy-five gave encouragement for a prosperous term. Two gentlemen of successful experience as teachers were employed who devoted themselves faithfully to the work; the interest was short lived however. After continuing eighteen evenings the number fell off so that one teacher could give instruction to the few who remained.

The school closed with an attendance of six; the average attendance was twenty.

A school for young women was opened in one of the rooms of the Prospect street building. It was closed with an attendance of five after continuing twelve evenings. The whole number attending was twenty; the average attendance, nine.

The school in Mechanical Drawing was held in St. John's Hall. Two classes were organized, an advanced class that had received previous instruction and a class of beginners.

Thirty-six lessons, equally divided between the classes were given. These lessons covered about the same ground as those given in previous years. The number of students in both classes was twenty-four representing the following occupations: mechanics, 6; machinists, 5; carpenters, 3; apprentices and plumbers, each 2; clerks, florists, laborers, masons, tin-smiths and upholsterers, each 1. The average attendance was fourteen. The age of the oldest was twenty-seven, the youngest fourteen.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

This school has fully maintained its past reputation for careful and exact scholarship. The addition of another teacher to its corps at the beginning of the year rendered a more careful classification and division of the work than had previously been possible.

The various public rhetorical exercises of the school that have occurred during the year have shown that this important branch has not been neglected.

The first Barnum prize was awarded to Edith B. Palmer, whose topic was "Athens under Pericles." The second was given to Rose A. Walsh, whose subject was "The Restriction of Emigration."

The graduation exercises of the class of 1889 occurred on the evening of June 24th, at Proctor's Grand Opera House in accordance with the following:

PARTING HYMN.

---

WORDS BY ELIZABETH AVERILL NORTON.

MUSIC BY LUCY BETTIE JOSEPHINE LOCKWOOD.

We linger here a passing hour,
Detained by Love's sweet bond,
Which fleeting years will make more strong,
In recollection fond.

Our hearts with joy and pain are thrilled,
As friendships we recall;
Our eyes with unfeigned tears are filled,
When we remember all.

We now go forward, one by one,
With hearts for every strife;
Each victory we've by labor won,
Counts us a step in life.

Dear Father, bless this parting hour,
Thy peace within us dwell;
Guide us by Thine Almighty power,
As now we say, "Farewell."

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

This school which is a very important part of our school system has been conducted on the same plan as the previous year. The young ladies under training have been very faithful and earnest in their work. At their graduation they acquitted themselves with great credit to themselves as well as to their instructors. The following comprised the graduating class:

KITTIE L. ARNOLD,	LIZZIE B. HULL,
CARRIE G. BALL,	KITTIE B. MIDDLEBROOK,
ANNIE M. BLANSFIELD,	BRIDGET L. NOONAN,
IDA E. BUCKINGHAM,	MARY A. OSBORNE,
CATHERINE A. BUCKLEY,	SARAH A. QUILTY,
CARRIE J. DAVIS,	MARY A. STAPLETON,
MARY E. DEVITT,	HENRIETTA L. WYRTZEN.

By the transfer of this school to the new building, where it will have increased facilities and a larger scope, we expect its results and influence will be still more marked.

THE TEACHERS.

During the year six resignations have occurred as follows: At the close of the Fall term, Jennie B. Andrus, (now Mrs. A. J. Smith,) of No. 15; during the Winter term, Mary F. Griffith, (now Mrs. John H. Lowndes,) of No. 8; at the close of the Winter term, Sarah B. Kline, (now Mrs. Eli L. Lesser,) of No. 1, and Katie S. Ellis, (now Mrs. Lyman L. Hill,) of No. 6; at the close of the year Rose M. Lathrop and Lillian M. Gould, of No. 4.

By these withdrawals the schools will be deprived of the services of teachers who have faithfully devoted themselves to the best interests of their pupils.

During the year nearly all the teachers of the Grammar grades have met the principal of the Training School for a series of weekly lessons in Geography. A great interest in this important study has been awakened which will doubtless be continued and bear fruit in better work in the school room. Our teachers as a body are earnest and enthusiastic in their work. It has been a great pleasure to me to assist such a body of willing workers.

NEW BUILDINGS.

The erection of the three-story brick building, with fourteen rooms, on Clinton avenue, will amply provide for the wants of that important section of the city. This building, constructed and ventilated on a plan similar to the High School, adds another to the system of school-houses that has given Bridgeport a reputation for excellent school buildings at home as well as abroad.

The addition of two rooms last year to the Jane street house afforded the needed relief for that portion for the time being. It is unfortunate that the contemplated addition to the same building could not have been built this summer as the opening of another room in the building on Old Mill Green will furnish only a partial relief.

The burning of the Summerfield building, last term, was a serious loss which makes still more difficult the problem of providing adequate school accommodations for the eastern part of the city. The erection of suitable buildings on the Barnum grounds and the site of the burned building ought not to be long postponed. While we flatter ourselves on the rapid increase of our city in population and importance, we ought to remember that there should be a corresponding increase in school facilities.

CONCLUSION.

In closing this report I desire to congratulate the Board of Education, and citizens generally, that the schools have enjoyed a year of quiet and effective work.

The progress already made warrants the confident expectation of still greater advances in the future.

It is pleasant to return thanks for the many courtesies received from those with whom official duties have associated me during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

H. M. HARRINGTON,

Supt. of Schools.

LIST OF PUPILS PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE.

---

Those pupils whose names are printed in the following list are worthy of honorable mention for their regularity and constancy in daily attendance.

The list is made up, first, of those who have been neither tardy, absent, nor dismissed during the entire year; second of those who, though not perfect in attendance for the year, were perfect in attendance for two terms. The names of those who were perfect in attendance for one term are not printed, on account of lack of space.

Number perfect in attendance the entire year,	462
Number perfect in attendance two terms, .	606
Number perfect in attendance one term, .	1,182

PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE THE ENTIRE YEAR.

A figure after a name indicates the number of years the pupil has been perfect in attendance.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

---

To the Citizens of Bridgeport:

The Board of Education, in presenting its report for the last school year, has to call attention to many important changes in the condition of the schools and its corps of teachers.

The attendance at the High School has increased to that extent that it became necessary at the opening of school this year to add another room for the accommodation of the increase.

The Business Course adopted by the Board has already proven itself a success in fitting scholars for mercantile and manufacturing pursuits. In order to still further develop and perfect the Commercial Course of study, we have appointed Mr. H. H. Todd to take special charge of this Department of the High School Curriculum. Mr. Todd comes to us with the highest recommendations as a teacher and gentleman, and the Board looks for a greater advance in the scholars under his charge.

The new Training School on Clinton Avenue was opened last January, and the necessity for its erection in that part of the city is shown by the fact that every seat is now occupied. The building is first-class in all its appointments, and is thoroughly adapted to the purpose for which it is used.

The Board has engaged the services of Mr. J. C. Witter to take charge of writing and drawing. Mr. Witter bears the highest testimonials, and we hope to obtain the best results in this department through his endeavors, as the whole work will be thoroughly reorganized.

Since our last report the Newfield school building was burned, the loss being partially covered by insurance. Temporary accommodations have been provided for the children in that section of the city, by leasing a building near the site of the old school-house.

The old Barnum school-house has been removed preparatory to the erection of the new building, which will undoubtedly be one of the finest in the city, and which, it is believed, will fully satisfy the urgent necessity for proper school accommodations so long existing in that district.

Mr. C. F. Williams, who has so efficiently served as a member of the Board for the past two years, and who so well filled the position of Secretary, has resigned, owing to his removal from the city. The vacancy thus caused was filled by the election of George Watson, Esq.

Dr. Eugene Bouton has been called to assume the responsibilities so long and so well discharged by the late Superintendent H. M. Harrington. He comes with an earnest desire to maintain the reputation of our schools and in every way possible advance their standard.

Herewith are also presented reports from the Finance Committee and from the Superintendent of Schools, both of which will repay a careful perusal.

The school work of the year, including teachers and pupils, has been earnest and successful, and well repays our people for the money expended.

Respectfully submitted,

By order of the Board,

J. S. HANOVER, President.

GEORGE WATSON, Secretary.

BRIDGEPORT, Oct. 5, 1890.

These statistics show an increase in the cost of the maintenance of the schools over the previous year, caused by the opening of additional school rooms, and the consequent employment of a greater number of teachers.

There has also been an increase in the per cent. of average membership to the number registered as well as in the number of pupils perfect in attendance for the year for one term.

There was a decrease in the per cent. of daily attendance to the average membership as well in the number perfect in attendance for two terms and also in the number of cases of tardiness.

A careful inspection of the statistical tables will well repay those who wish to make comparisons between the schools in different parts of the city.

As no officer was detailed to the special work of looking after cases of truancy, whatever has been done has been accomplished by the regular officers. The results have varied with the efficiency of the men and their interest in the work. When an officer has shut his eyes to what was going on around him but few children have been returned to school. When on the other hand the officer has been vigilant and energetic the number of children absent from school without good reason has decreased. The returns made to the chief of police for the year show that the officers investigated over one thousand cases as follows: Sept., 62, Oct., 95, Nov., 52, Dec., 10, Jan., 56, Feb. 75, March 110, April 159, May 274, June 114.

During the year twenty-four boys were sent to the Reform School and eight girls to the Industrial School.

The results of having the regular officers attend to the cases of truancy during the past year simply adds another argument in favor of having the work done by one who has made it a matter of careful study and who is familiar with the offenders and their habits.

PRIMARY AND GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

These Schools have accomplished a year of successful work. The results in reading and number lessons in the primary rooms have been better than ever before. The general use of sand moulding in geography has rendered the subject more of an objective reality and awakened an increased interest in this important study.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The number of pupils in attendance upon this school has been larger than ever before. The new commercial course of two years, which went into operation at the beginning of the fall term, has proved a popular one, and gives promise of meeting the wants of those who do not desire to pursue the full four years' course, but wish a good preparation for business life. The appointment of a very competent teacher to take special charge of this department will strengthen the corps of teachers of this School.

The various public exercises of the School have been well attended.

In the contest for the Barnum Prizes the first was awarded to Jennie C. Tolles, and the second to Sarah O'Rourke, each of whom wrote upon the topic "The Future of the Negro in the United States.

The graduation exercises, of the class of 1890, occurred on the evening of June 23d, at Proctor's Grand Opera House, in accordance with the following

---

Words by LIZZIE MAY BEDELL.

Music by CHARLES ALBERT SMITH.

As the swan, when life declining,
Breathing music low and sweet,
Fate's mysterious call divining,
Joyfully its end doth greet ;
So this class, whose life is ending,
Treasured memories will keep,
And, in song our voices blending,
Part we now—again to meet.

Classmates, now our farewell speaking,
Sad the hour, in which we part,
Future glories, each one seeking,
Filled with hope is every heart.
Yet, before farewell is spoken,
We a moment pause to pray,
For some good and gracious token,
Heavenly guidance on life's way.

NEED OF AN UNGRADED SCHOOL.

The establishment of an Ungraded School for the benefit of those pupils who are irregular in attendance, where more special attention could be given than is possible in the regular grades, would be a great help to the other schools of the city.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

During the winter two Evening Schools for young men were maintained, one on Sterling Street, and the other on High Street. The one at Sterling Street was continued for seventy-one evenings. There were fifty-three members, with an average attendance of 16.6.

The School at High Street was maintained for fifty-four evenings. Thirty-one young men attended, with an average attendance of eleven.

No School for the benefit of young women was opened for the lack of the requisite number of applications.

For the first time since the establishment of the present system of Schools there was no free Evening School for instruction in Mechanical Drawing.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

With the transfer of this School to the new building, its scope was extended so as to include all the primary and one of the grammar grades.

With more teachers and increased facilities the school has achieved larger and better results than ever before. It has been delightful to note the interest and earnestness of the young ladies in this work. At the close of the year certificates were given to the members of the Senior class for their completion of the second years' course, and also to the Juniors who had finished their first year.

Were two years required to secure the diploma for graduation from this School, its graduates would then have a preparation for their vocation that would be second to none in New England.

---

MINNIE L. ROCK was educated in the schools of this city, graduating from the High School in 1881, and then entered the Training School. Her first appointment after leaving this School was to No. 17, where she remained till the fall of 1883, when she was transferred to No. 1, where she remained till the close of the Summer term, 1889. At that time she complained of great weariness from the year's labors, but hoped to recruit during the long vacation. Such hope proved delusive, as she died in Brooklyn, August 13, 1889, surrounded by her parents and friends.

She was a conscientious, unselfish teacher, ever laboring for the benefit of her pupils. By her pleasant disposition and cheerful manners she gained many strong friends by whom her memory will long be fondly cherished.

THE TEACHERS.

Our teachers are deserving of great praise for their manifest fidelity, and the painstaking care with which they have labored for the advancement of their pupils.

Very few changes have occurred among them. Near the close of the Winter term Frances B. Coggsell, of No. 18, tendered her resignation to go to another city. She will return to the service of the Board, in the same school, at the beginning of the next term. Jessie Sherwood, of No. 11, resigned at the close of the year. The services of Warren H. Lamson, as the Special Instructor in Penmanship and Drawing, terminated at the same time. By their withdrawals the Schools will be deprived of the services of teachers who have labored with zeal for the best interests of their pupils.

Respectfully submitted,

H. M. HARRINGTON,

Supt. of Schools.

LIST OF PUPILS PERFECT IN ATTEND- ANCE.

---

Those pupils whose names are printed in the following list are worthy of honorable mention for their regularity and constancy in daily attendance.

The list is made up, first, of those who have been neither tardy, absent, nor dismissed during the entire year; second of those who, though not perfect in attendance for the year, were perfect in attendance for two terms. The names of those who were perfect in attendance for one term are not printed on account of lack of space.

Number perfect in attendance the entire year,	463
Number perfect in attendance two terms, .	575
Number perfect in attendance one term, .	1,340

PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE THE ENTIRE YEAR.

A figure after a name indicates the number of years the pupil has been perfect in attendance.
